the ordinary course of life. In addition to the religious and spiritual needs of the people, there are also the social and economic needs of the community. These needs must be met if the Jewish community is to remain strong and vital.

THE JEWISH FAITH

The Jewish faith is based on the principles of monotheism, which teaches that there is one God who created the world and who is the source of all good. The Jewish faith also emphasizes the importance of the commandments, which are the laws of God. These commandments are intended to guide the individual in his daily life.

The Jewish faith is also based on the principles of justice and compassion. It teaches that every person is created in the image of God and that therefore every person deserves to be treated with respect and dignity. The Jewish faith also emphasizes the importance of charity and giving to those in need.
